

A New Kind of Eggs

My family and I are vegetarians. We don't eat meat, fish, or eggs. Today, though, I ate bread with a new kind of eggs. They weren't chicken eggs. They were an egg substitute made from plants!

- Circle a word that has the same oo sound as "pool."
- In the seventh sentence, underline the word that is another way of saying "plant eggs."
- Put a ✨ next to an important detail from the text.

Plant eggs are made from peas and beans. They're great for people who don't or can't eat eggs from chickens. In bread, you can't tell the difference between a chicken egg and a plant egg. I think plant eggs are a cool invention!

Why do you think plant eggs are an important good? Explain.

Have students draw and write to respond to the text.
